One day Helmer decides to renovate the house, buying himself a new double bed and moving his father upstairs. His life gains even more momentum, when adolescent farmhand Henk comes to help him out, making Helmer question his loyalties between his own desires, and his own family loyalties.

Opening 2013's Panorama section at the Berlin Film Festival and winner of the feature film competition prize at the Torino LGBT Film Festival, IT'S ALL SO QUIET is a beautiful and silent meditation on love and bereavement in a rural environment.
